

COMMUNICATION STUDIES, COMM 970D

“FROM RESEARCH TO PRACTICE: AN INTRODUCTION TO TRANSLATIONAL RESEARCH”

WITH

VISITING SCHOLAR, MICHELLE MILLER-DAY

Professor of Communication and Health and Strategic Communication, Chapman University
Co-President of REAL Prevention

First Five Weeks Class, Summer 2016
Register Today!

JUNE 6-24: (M/W/TH) 12:00-4:00 PM

JUNE 25-JULY 8: INDIVIDUAL RESEARCH PROJECT MEETINGS WITH STUDENTS VIA SKYPE OR OTHER MEANS.

Course Description: The goal of this course is to familiarize students with translational research with a particular focus on community-based participatory research practices. Students will explore knowledge translation, dissemination and implementation science, and community-based participatory research approaches for translating research findings for relevance to stakeholders beyond academia.